Dec. 2008 – Current CFI Cash Index, Daily

*The Index is composed of the average of all the cash vintages.

No trades in the CFI cash market today. A 500 lot did trade in the OTC market at 0.75, holding a rough premium of 0.60 compared to the 0.15 trading on the exchange. Yst a 40 lot of USA Forestry traded in the OTC market at 0.95. We continue to see the OTC market hold a pretty good premium over what is traded on the exchange. The Dec'10 futures saw some decent volume on the day with a volume of 66 trading through spreads. For the past few days we've seen RGGI's get beat up, and today was no different. The Dec'09 RGGI contract traded as low at $1.96 to settle at $2.03 at the close. Tomorrow is the last RGGI auction for the year, and traditionally we have seen the RGGI contract get sold off pretty hard prior to the auction.

The EUAs made a run higher; however the contract is still very much inside the downward channel. The contract being on the upper end of the channel, makes me believe that we can see a selloff in the contract tomorrow.
